

First News Briefs for April 23, 2013

Wireless Week Staff

T-Mobile USA, Inc. today announced the appointment of Drew Kelton to the newly created role of executive vice president of Business Markets, reporting to president and CEO John Legere.

Openwave Messaging, Inc. has joined the Open Mobile Alliance (OMA), an industry forum for developing market driven, interoperable mobile service enablers.

Skyworks Solutions, Inc., a provider of analog semiconductors enabling a broad range of end markets, today announced it is supporting Samsung's GALAXY S 4 smartphone platforms with multiple analog and front-end solutions.

Transmode, a global supplier of packet-optical networking solutions, today announced the company's new Mobile Fronthaul solution to support mobile operators rolling out C-RAN architectures.

Axiros, a provider of advanced service and device management, announced today that its flagship product, the AXESS.ACS TR-069 device management solution, is now available on a hosted platform. AXESS.ACS as a Service provides the same functionality as the original but in a cloud-based format.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/12/2013 - 6:59am):

<http://www.wirelessweek.com/news/2013/04/first-news-briefs-april-23-2013>